DESIGN NEWS

The latest updates for kitchens, bathrooms, projects and tech

TOUGHEN UP

Metal is big news in bathrooms this season. Italian brand Scavolini has teamed up with Diesel Living, tapping into the brand's edgy, masculine aesthetic and giving it a glam twist to bring us the Diesel Open Workshop bathroom. Think aluminium, industrial-style taps and modular shelving systems alongside white mineral-marble basins. Price on request (scavolini.design)

[Pour de force]

Eva Solo's Pour Over coffee pot is all about old-school brewing techniques, using a steel filter to bring out the very best of the coffee. Once you've finished playing barista, you can pop in the cork lid and admire the design. £65, Eva Solo at Forma (formahouse.co.uk)

COLOUR WHEEL

Get creative with Bosch's Vario Style fridge freezer featuring swappable coloured doors. Available in a choice of shades - including Cherry Red, left, Aqua and Sunflower - you'll be able to scratch that redecorating itch whenever it strikes. £899; replacement doors, £149 (bosch-home.co.uk)

LOVES

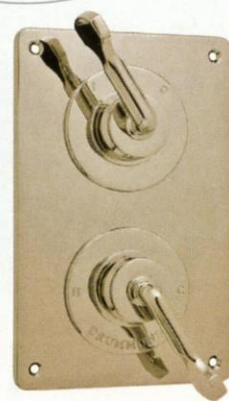

FEELING TOASTY

We're dreaming of a white Christmas - and it would seem kitchen appliance super-brand Smeg is too. Coming over all minimalist on us, the company has ditched its penchant for retro pastels in favour of this crisp new colourway for winter. It's not known as Brilliant White for nothing... TSF02WHUE toaster, £139.95 (smeguk.com)

WONDER WALL

Function can get in the way of going all-out in bathrooms, so it's hats off to the team at Wall&Deco who have devised a waterproof system of primers and protective finishes for the brand's divinely decorative wallpapers - including Savannah, pictured. Wet System collection, £156sq m (westonebathrooms.com)

TURNED ON

Martin Brudnizki has taken the mundane and made it magnificent with a range of bathroom brassware for Drummonds. Expect considered, ergonomic design across a choice of taps and showers, all finished in brass, chrome and nickel. The Leawood collection, from £672 (drummonds-uk.com)
